

KIOA PERSONALITIES

Iowa's Greatest Hits

PERSONALITIES WITH PERSONALITY!

Maxwell Schaeffer & Pam Dixon

Maxwell's 28 years of broadcast experience has taken him from Pennsylvania to Texas, before settling in Des Moines more than 20 years ago. He is active in the community, serving on the Board of Directors of "Stage West," a non-profit theatre organization, volunteering in his son's schools, and with the area's amateur hockey organization. Maxwell's voice can be heard on radio and TV ads around the country, and he has won numerous awards for his production and morning show comedy.

Pam is the newest member of the KIOA staff and while new to our airwaves she's a familiar voice to central Iowan's. A Des Moines native and Hoover High grad, Pam was formerly heard on KRNO and KLYF in the eighties and ninety's. Now, she brings her unique sense of humor and friendly style to the KIOA morning show and we are ecstatic to have her with us.

Alan White

A North High Polar Bear, every weekday Alan White makes the workday go faster with the Greatest Hits of the '60s and '70s. Go AWOL... be an At Work Listener weekdays with Alan.

Tim Fox

A 26-year broadcast veteran, Program Director Tim Fox has now programmed successful stations in Rockford, Denver, Milwaukee, San Antonio, and now over 15 years in Des Moines. Tim brings you home every night from the long day at work to make the trip carefree and fun.

Kate Garner

The biggest thing you should know about Kate is she loves Des Moines. She's a life-long Iowan. She's been doing the radio thing since 1985 at Valley High School. That's where her passion for broadcasting began; she wanted to be Walter Cronkite or, more likely, Murphy Brown. She helps wrap up your weekdays from 7-midnight.
